Modern Healthcare

THE ONLY HEALTHCARE BUSINESS NEWS WEEKLY | MAY 12, 2014

by the numbers

Top business graduate schools for physician-executives

Data collected January-April 2014 for the 2013-14 school year, ranked by number of full-time students

Rank	Institution	Degrees offered	Number of full-time students	Tuition 2013-14	Total graduates as of 2013-14 school year	Length of program (months)	Age of program (years)
1	Rice University, Jones Graduate School of Business	MBA, MD/MBA[1]	231	$48,500	5,921	20	39
2	George Washington University School of Business	MBA	179	40,200	578	24	10
3	University of Houston at Clear Lake	MBA, MHA	129	9,571	2,479	24	37
4	Georgia State University	MBA, MHA, MSHA	111	8,082	251	27	33
5	Florida International University, Chapman Graduate School of Business[2]	MBA	109	52,000	175	18	4
6	Columbia University, Mailman School of Public Health	EMPH	91	33,990	650	23	24
7	Temple University, Fox School of Business[3]	MBA, EMBA	86	25,137	1,036	21	45
	University of St. Thomas[3]	MBA	86	28,667	328	27	22
9	St. Louis University, School of Public Health and John Cook School of Business	MHA, MHA/MBA, MHA/JD, EMHA[4]	80	30,900	1,500	21	66
10	Trinity University	MS	70	29,883	1,861	23	35
11	University of Colorado at Denver	MBA	60	26,500	710	24	29
12	Emory University, Goizueta Business School[3,5]	MBA[6]	58	58,020	306	20	11
13	Baylor University, Hankamer School of Business[3]	MBA	57	90,500	400	21	20
14	Auburn University, Raymond J. Harbert College of Business[3]	MBA	55	28,690	267	21	14
15	University of Miami School of Business Administration[3]	EMBA	53	42,250	892	23	34
16	University of Tennessee[3]	MBA	51	74,000	494	12	17
17	University of California at Los Angeles, Fielding School of Public Health	EMPH, MPH	50	29,000	496	22	18
	California State University at Long Beach	MS	50	11,040	307	22	9
19	Yale School of Management[3]	MBA	48	155,500	134	22	8
20	University of Louisville, College of Business[3]	MBA	45	32,000	5,036	20	60

Degree definitions: EMHA=Executive Master of Health Administration; EMBA=Executive Master of Business Administration; EMPH=Executive Master of Public Health; EMSHA=Executive Master of Science in Health Administration; EMHL=Executive Master of Healthcare Leadership; MMM=Master of Medical Management; HCEMBA=Healthcare Executive Master of Business Administration

Note: Information is self-reported from institutions responding to Modern Healthcare's survey; only those that participated were considered for this ranking. The rankings were based on a list of programs awarding MBAs or similar degrees that focus on physician-executives. All schools ranked offer MBAs or similar degrees that focus on physicians and have accreditation.

[1]The Jones School and Baylor College of Medicine jointly offer a five-year combined MBA/MD program. [2]Forty-eight students are part of an online, hybrid program, 109 are part of the regular program in Miami. [3]Includes any or all of the following in tuition: textbooks, course materials, iPads, notebook computers, meals, lodging or educational seminars. [4]The EMHA program operates a hybrid instruction model with an online and on-campus component. [5]Tuition reported is for Year 1 students in the school year 2013-2014, which includes fall, spring and summer. [6]Also offers dual degrees in MBA/MD, MBA/MPH and MBA/Doctorate in physical therapy.

Source: Modern Healthcare's 2014 Business Graduate Schools for Physician-Executives Survey

Information in this chart subsequently may be revised at the discretion of the editor. For more information on our research, contact Michael Sandler at 312-397-5511 or msandler@modernhealthcare.com. For more charts, lists, rankings and surveys, please visit modernhealthcare.com/data.

UNIVERSITY OF LOUISVILLE®

COLLEGE OF BUSINESS

The Publisher's sale of this reprint does not constitute or imply any endorsement or sponsorship of any product, service or organization. Reprinted with permission from Modern Healthcare. © 2014 Crain Communications Inc. REPRODUCTIONS ARE NOT PERMITTED 212.210.0707 • www.modernhealthcare.com/section/reprints. #14023