Exhibit 1

Addendum Regarding University Duties and Business Affiliations

Founder & Director, Institute for Entrepreneurial Research, 2001 to 2006

There are 23 affiliated PhD qualified faculty in the Institute and I am responsible for coaching, mentoring and supervising all of them, as well as charting a course for the future of the Institute. Their affiliation with the Institute is completely voluntary, but there are benefits to being involved. Although I founded the Institute, the affiliates elected me separately as its director. In addition, I have funding responsibility for the organization

Founder & Director, Entrepreneurship PhD Program, 2004 to 2007

Created unique PhD program using faculty from universities world-wide. Designed curriculum; obtained university approval, created website; signed all contracts; recruited all students; designed orientation program; established admissions and oversight committee.

Foothill Properties, Inc. (Founder and President, 1975 to 1986)

I founded Foothill Properties to develop real estate in Arizona. I raised money from limited partners, investors and others to develop subdivisions, luxury homes, industrial parks, condominiums, townhouses, golf courses and apartment projects. Its primary business activity was forming syndicates. Foothill Properties was also the general contractor for these projects, which exceeded $20,000,000 a year.

CompuNet, Inc. (Founder and President, 1986 to 1987)

CompuNet provided project management, resource allocation and scheduling services to real estate developers, contractors and financial institutions. In its final year of operations, it managed more than $150,000,000 in projects. I owned 50% of the stock in this corporation.

Savell Building Systems, Inc. (Founder and Vice President, 1983 to 1986)

Constructed passive solar building structures using a patented building process based on precast concrete insulated on the exterior of the building. Savell Building

Systems, Inc. was the licensee for this process in Arizona and Utah. I owned 25% of the stock in this corporation.

Miscellaneous activities (1974 to 1986)

I operated other partnerships, sole proprietorships and corporations for specific business purposes. Often Foothill Properties, Inc. was the general partner with operational authority for these activities, most of which were put in place to develop real estate.
